Host Youth Volunteers in Your Organization!

The Public Health Association of BC (PHABC) is seeking local food systems and environmental stewardship organizations across BC to host youth volunteers (ages 15-30).

The program runs from January 2026-March 2027 and is an exciting opportunity to:

- Mentor and empower youth as they explore their interests in food systems.
- Connect to a network of passionate youth volunteers and food systems organizations across BC.
- Learn best practices for youth engagement.
- Help grow the next generation of environmental stewards!

Are you passionate about engaging, inspiring and mentoring youth to shape the future our food system? We're looking for public, private, and non-profit organizations across BC working in:

- Agriculture & Food Production
- Food Processing & Distribution
- Food Security & Access
- Environmental Stewardship & Conservation
- Policy & Advocacy
- Education & Research
